Every thing is assembled here, the produce of the country, and the works of industry; flesh, fish, fruits, garden-seeds, pottery, ironware, shoes, trays, buckets extremely well made, c. The stranger is never wearied in contemplating this multitude of men and women moving and crossing in every direction, without tumult or injury. You would say, that it was a market of brothers, that it was a rendezvous of philosophers, of the pupils of the silent Pythagoras; for silence reigns without interruption: you hear none of those piercing cries so common elsewhere; each one sells, bargains, and buys in silence. The carts and horses which have brought in the supplies are peaceably arranged in the next street, in the order in which they arrive; when disengaged, they move off in silence: no quarrels among the carmen and the porters. /You see none of our fools and macaronies galloping with loose reins in the streets. These are the astonishing effects of habit; a habit inspired by the Quakers, who planted morals in this country; a habit of doing every thing with tranquillity and with reason; a habit of injuring no person, and of having no need of the interposition of the magistrate. To maintain order in such a market in France would require four judges and a dozen soldiers. Here the law has no need of muskets; education and morals have done every thing. Two clerks of the police walk in the market. If they suspect a...
