In some cases rice itself is used in making pearl buttons. Sugar-cane and Sugar.--There are a number of plants from whose sap sugar is made. One of these, the sugar maple, has already been mentioned (p. 132); another is the sugar beet, raised in great quantities in some of the European countries, and also, of late, in many parts of the United States. This beet is a very important source of sugar, because it can be raised in the cool temperate climate. For a long time, however, the principal source of sugar has been the sugar-cane, a plant that looks some what like corn. This plant requires a fertile soil and grows only in warm regions, where there is practically no frost even in...
